It was easy on some parts. The math one was hard, because it we didn't learn it and it was hard to understand. The English was easy. I didn't how we are in class for 2 hours and the lunch schedule.

I thought the PARCC Computer Based Assessment was a better test than the NJ Ask. I liked the PARCC Computer Based test was better because it was online. I also liked how we had no homework. However I did not like that we were not aloud to ask at least one question on either the ELA or the Math assessments. I also thought that the PARCC Computer Based Assessment was easy because it only a couple questions that made it seem less stressful then everyone said it was but I thought it was super easy.

In the ELA I didn't understand some of the questions. The ELA is somewhat easy and the math was very easy (for me). I liked that you can use scrap paper.

I felt that it was somewhat easy and I am exited for the one in May

It was okay for me, but half (a few of them) were kind of hard for me to get. But it was fun that I got to learn and experience new things to learn.

I liked the NJ ask better this is too difficult.

I think the parcc was very easy and I felt good taking it because it was the same thing as some test in school.

I found the PARCC to be useful to a degree. The ELA portion was fairly easy, and I felt prepared for it between all of the preparation we did. However, the preparation took up most of our school time, between writing essays, doing practice tests, and more. I wish that we had more time to do other things outside of PARCC. Also, the Math section was unreasonably difficult, and I did not learn most of the material in the section. Also, the writing space was difficult to use because I could not see much of my essay, only one paragraph at best. Thank You, and I hope you use this feedback wisely :)

The PARCC is a great way of testing although it does have some cons to it. I have not yet taken the second part of the test so I cannot say whether it was easy or hard. What I can say is for the ELA section the PARCC was fine. However I struggled with the math section. You can't really explain your answer by showing your work without taking a long time. The math section should stick to the usual paper and pencil, however the ELA section is mostly okay.

The test was easier and more convenient because once we reach the high levels most test are done online, plus with technology being more in use this was a good practice test. It had many problems with the internet it had with the test though. I found it better than NJ ASK it was a lot easier
